

A stylized illustration of two dandelions with green heads and brown centers, connected by thin brown stems. Several small, light green dandelion seeds are shown floating in the air around the heads.

mom to mom

testimonies...

Kirbi Bliss: It was such a blessing to me to see how friendly and compassionate the leaders were. I remember the first day that I walked in how welcoming the leaders were. I remember leaving the parking lot and calling my husband and saying you wouldn't believe how welcomed they made me feel.

Macale Donaldson: I joined M2M later in the season. From the first day, I felt so welcomed and happy to be a part of something sweet and genuine. I was blessed to know these wonderful moms and have been blessed by the wonderful leadership.

Laura King: I came to M2M looking for a Bible study focused on motherhood but also found a room full of welcoming girls who I now call friends, a time to sit and drink an entire cup of coffee, lessons that give me just the godly encouragement and practical advice I need to make it through the week, a knowing that I am being prayed for, leaders who have a wisdom and perspective that can only come with experience thus living out Titus 2:3. Simply put I can hardly wait for M2M each and every week.

Farah Norman: I have enjoyed having spiritual moms who love and give advice without judgment. I love my spiritual sisters who come beside me in prayer and encouragement to be transparent in their struggles and hold me up in mine. When I was new to Taylors, the leaders and other moms loved me and helped me become part of the Taylors' family.

Lauren Rowland: M2M is a safe place for me. I feel like I can share anything about my struggles with my children without being judged as a mother. This year at M2M, I have been amazed at the power of prayer. Our group has been dedicated to pray for each others' needs and we have seen God work firsthand through the prayers of His people. I love M2M.

Ansley Welchel: This entire year of M2M has been such a blessing. From the precious greetings from your leaders and other moms on a harried morning (most all of them are with a toddler), the Biblical lessons, to advice from other moms, God has used Wednesday mornings at Taylors to enrich my life. I am a better wife and mother because of this special group.